HUNT IN MOZAMBIQUE – ZAMBEZE DELTA

Z

Mozambique is situated in South East Africa. The official safari concessions covering 5000 square kilometers of some of the most diverse habitat and animal species found in Africa. These areas are of the few remaining in Africa where you can still do a Classical African Safari today. They are part of the Marromeu Complex and boarder the Mighty Zambeze River in the North. The concessions are situated in the central part of Coastal Mozambique. The spectrum of wildlife is quite remarkable, having 22 huntable game species from the tiny Livingstone Suni to the Elephant. Buffalo roam the open flood plains and swamps in herds of several hundred and Sable in huge herds often nearing 100. A recent Buffalo count has estimated the Buffalo in the Marromeu complex to be around 12 000 strong. This concession has four distinctive types of habitat, namely sand forests, tropical savannah, swamps and floodplains make these areas totally unique. A long term lease with the Government has ensured that sound management practices implemented have assisted in making these areas some of the finest free roaming game lands in Africa today. They have 4 main camps within the concessions. Two permanent camps, the first being the original camp, Mungari, this is a typical East African styled tented camp with bathrooms en-suite. There are 7 tents accommodating 2 clients in each. The camp is set in the lush tropical sand forests which hold an abundance of bird life. The second camp is Ngazi camp, this camp was used by the Portuguese hunters in the late 60's. Due to the war this camp was neglected and only in revamped in 2007. The camp is built out of brick and has 4 rooms with bathrooms in suite. Here sound Game Management practices and Anti-Poaching programs are in place. Hunters fly into Beira International Airport and a short charter finds you landing in one of the most pristine hunting concessions in Africa.

M'Tsewa is situated in the Cabo Delgado Province in the far Northern reaches of Mozambique. An easy drive from Pemba, finds one in the few untouched parts remaining in Africa. Situated in the corridor between the Niassa and Querimbas National Parks, this is true big game country. The real drawing card to this area is its magnificent Elephant with their long and thick ivory. This outfitter currently operates in the entire Cabo Delgado province, an area that consistently produces some of the best Elephants in Africa. Although not for the faint hearted, this hunt offers a chance for a determined hunter to collect some magnificent ivory. Buffalo, Lion and Leopard are also present in huntable numbers. Plains game in the area is limited, but good Kudu, Bushbuck, Zebra, Red and Grey Duiker, Suni, Klipspringers, Warthog and Bushpig can be found. This area hunts well in the late season between September and November, when all the surrounding water dries up; drawing the animals to the natural springs, which produce water throughout the year. Although it can be extremely hot and dry, with lots of walking, one is rewarded with exceptional quality trophies. The area is characterized by bamboo forests and heavily wooded savannah. Hunters are accommodated in a traditional East African style tented camp overlooking the Messalo River. Tents are en-suite with hot and cold running water. An open-air fire pit and dining area complete the camp.
